

Call for Applications for the AAS Main Prize for Atherosclerosis Research 2025

Dear colleagues,

The Austrian Atherosclerosis Society awards an AAS main prize of € 1500 for an outstanding scientific publication in the field of atherosclerosis research.

The submitted work must have been carried out at an Austrian research institution and applicants must not have reached the age of 40 on the day of the submission deadline.

Original scientific papers that were published or demonstrably accepted for publication between January 1, 2024 and the submission deadline can be submitted for the AAS main prize. Diabetes mellitus is a major risk factor for atherosclerosis, and most patients with diabetes ultimately die from an atherothrombotic event. Papers related to diabetes mellitus are therefore very welcome.

Only one publication may be submitted per AAS member for the main prize. Publications that have already received an award are not eligible. The submission of the work as a pdf and a letter stating the age of the applicant is required. The publication awarded the main prize must be presented at the annual meeting of the Austrian Atherosclerosis Society in Grundlsee on May 10, 2025.

DEADLINE for applications: March 1, 2025

Applications should be sent to Dr. Renate Schreiber (renate.schreiber@uni-graz.at)

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read 'D. Kratky'.

Univ. Prof. Dr. Dagmar Kratky
Präsidentin der AAS

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read 'R. Schreiber'.

Dr. Renate Schreiber
Sekretärin der AAS

With kind support from

